Short story :

The small, secluded college campus was surrounded by thick, dark woods. Rumors circulated about the strange occurrences that took place after dark. Some said they saw a ghostly figure wandering the halls, while others claimed to hear eerie whispers coming from the closed library. The students were warned not to venture into the woods at night, for no one knew what lurked within. Yet, every year, one student would disappear without a trace. The mystery deepened when a group of students discovered an old, abandoned building hidden in the woods. What secrets did this mysterious college hold? And who, or what, was behind the disappearances?
